Symposium on Women’s Development Through the Ages
March 10, 2017

International Women’s Day 2017 is an opportunity to reflect on progress made, to call for change and to celebrate acts of courage and determination by ordinary women who have played an extraordinary role in the history of their countries and communities.

On March 10, the Department of Sociology, M.O.P Vaishnav College explored the arduous journey of women’s development in India through the ages through a symposium on opportunities and challenges in various spheres of political, economic, social, cultural and civil life.

Two highly acclaimed chief guests, Dr. Bharathi Harishankar and Ms. Lakshmy Ramakrishnan, addressed the students of M.O.P., Loyola College, and Kanyaka Parameswari College.

Dr. Bharathi Harishankar, Professor and Head of Department of Women Studies, University of Madras, addressed the gathering on the role of Indian women in the development of contemporary India. She brought into light the fact that freedom enjoyed today by women was secured after a lot of struggle. The speaker explained women empowerment with three waves of feminism. Women’s first fight was for equal contract and property rights. Women are often taken for granted at family level and in the larger society level. In 19th and 20th centuries she realized the importance of gaining political power to bring about change in sexual, reproductive and economic matters. The true women’s empowerment should be inclusive of gender and a partnership with men. She insisted that gender sensitization should be inculcated in the male child while bringing up the children without any discrimination. She brought into light the role of women in all spheres of life that has been undervalued and how the solution lies in the hands of women using their innate potential to claim and inspire equality from home to the society. She was more for assertiveness than aggression. She motivated students to take up studies on women, gender and their development so we can all play a role in shaping a better future for women.

The second session was by Ms. Lakshmi Ramakrishnan, a vivacious film personality. Her passionate outburst about the issues women were facing today was vividly supported by real-time incidents that she shared from her experience on her TV show “Solvathellam Unmai”. Ms. Lakshmi’s point of view of the various situations that are prevailing in the society today were put forth in a manner that left the audience thinking. The lecture was followed by an interactive session with students.

In all, the symposium was greatly received by the students gathered there and inspired students to work towards women empowerment.
