About Autolib V 7.2

The institutional library uses Autolib, an Integrated Library Management Software that facilitates automation of core library functions. The version being used currently is V-7.2

The software employs a minimalist interface designed to streamline workflow.

Library users may login with their individual login credentials from any of the networked computers at the library.

Admin (library staff) may access the entire range of Autolib features in order to organize library work, while other users (students, faculty and other staff) can access the functions that would be most relevant to them, such as search options, library holdings, their individual accounts, etc.
